IMPROVEMENTS AT FETTERS' SPRINGS

Among them is a Twenty-five Room Annex to the Already Commodious Hotel

Many substantial improvements are being made at Fetters' Hot Springs at Agua Caliente. Among these is a new 25-room hotel, which will be used as an annex to the beautiful buildings already on the place.

In addition to this improvement the hotel has been elegantly appointed, new cottages built, the plunge and shower baths improved and the grounds on the place beautified with lawns and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Fetters recently assumed control of their property, which had been under lease for a term of years.

This beautiful summer resort has no superior in this section of the State for the pleasure seeker and invalid. Everything for the comfort and convenience of guests has been provided for regardless of expense.

The hotel and grounds are located at Agua Caliente, one of the most charming spots of our famous valley and commands a magnificent view of the surrounding mountain scenery.

The Fetters in developing these springs and providing elegant accommodations for those who may visit them have already spent $100,000 and are still spending, as it is their intention to make this resort one of the most up-to-date and attractive in all California.

Vagaries of Competition in Sonoma.

At an adjourned meeting of the City Trustees held Monday evening the contract for sprinkling the streets of this city was awarded to Henry Castagnasso at $3.49 per day, his bid being 41 cents less than that of Chas. Togni, his only competitor.

Last year's sprinkling was given out without competition at $3.25 per day and a big wail went up on the part of some of the taxpayers of "extravagance" of the Trustees, so it was decided to invite proposals for doing the work this season, with the result that competition in this case did not lower the cost of the service but on the contrary increased it to sixteen cents per day. As two horses and a driver are required each day in giving the city this service it really is worth $4.00 per day at the very least.

A Thrilling, Hair Raising and Blood Curdling Event.

A large number of our people took in the races held under the auspices of the Santa Rosa Automobile Association in that city last Saturday and Sunday. Every automobile in the valley, and there are not a few of them, holding from two to six occupants, were lined up on both days of the races to witness an effort on the part of racing machines and their drivers to annihilate time. It was most certainly one of the most thrilling, hair-raising and blood-curdling events ever witnessed by the take-it-easy people of the Sonoma valley.

A Cheap Cash Register

A dispatch from Los Angeles says that Oscar Grimm and Julius Schneider, received notification that they had been granted a patent for a most remarkable cash register invented by Schneider. The machine is simple and different from anything on the market. Small brass checks showing the amount of purchase are placed in the machine and dropped into a box, which is locked by the proprietor's key. These checks show until the next purchase is made. It is claimed the machine can be manufactured for $2 aud do the work of machines costing fifty times as much.

Kicked by Horse

J. H. Murray, the well-known horseshoer, who was kicked over the loins by a horse on Tuesday of last week, is up and around again but is still under the care of Dr. Thomson and will be out of commission for another week. In the meantime his shop is being looked after by an expert mechanic.

VINEBURG ECHOES

Mrs. Arthur Batto was visiting friends on the Hyde tract Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Myrtle Hardy is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGill of Schellville this week.

Mr. Editor, news is scarce this week and I have had little time to chase up items. Will do better next week.

Mr. Fred. Batto made his regular weekly business trip to San Francisco on Monday and Petaluma on Tuesday.

Vineburg was decidedly a quiet place last Sunday. Most of our citizens were in Sonoma or attending the automobile races in Santa Rosa.

It was not a Vineburg girl who was talking over the phone the other day and ordering a barrel of flour from a Petaluma pickle factory. It was a Wingo damsel.

Mr. Celestine Andrieux of this place celebrated his birthday last Wednesday and he received the congratulations of a large number of friends. "Les" is all right.

The vineyardists and orchardists in this vicinity and in fact all through this part of the valley have their places in fine shape and if a large crop is not harvested this season it will be no fault of theirs.

The Gundlach-Bundschu Wine Company still continues to ship large quantities of wine from this station to San Francisco and many points in the East. These shipments keep a large number of employees busy.

The Northwestern Pacific's Railroad company has started to build an extension to its station platform in this place. This is a sure indication of an increase in the company's business here and that our burg is growing some.

SONOMA TO HAVE MOTOR CAR SERVICE

Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce Committee Confer With Southern Pacific Company

The Southern Pacific Company's officials in the Flood building, San Francisco, received a committee from the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce on Thursday to discuss the proposed motor car service through this valley which that company has in view.

The Southern Pacific people have virtually decided to give our people this service and the only question to be decided is the route the cars will take in running through the Sonoma Valley. This question was the principal one that was discussed

It was pointed out to the railway officials by the Santa Rosa Chamber of Commerce committee that it is the desire of the people in this valley that the motor cars leave the Southern Pacific tracks at Schellville and proceed over the Northwestern Pacific's tracks to Vineburg, Sonoma, Verano, Agua Caliente, Eldridge, Glen Ellen and thence on to Santa Rosa.

It was decided by the Southern Pacific Company that at least one of the trips of the motor cars will be made over the route mentioned and perhaps both the daily trips of that company will be made over the same route.

Woman's Club Notes.

Last Friday the regular business meeting of the Woman's Club was a very interesting one. The Plaza Committee reported the work on the new north side fountain as progressing satisfactorily, while bills to the amount of $221 were ordered paid for hauling the soil used in grading the new lawn site.

An invitation was received asking the ladies to attend the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of Robert Louis Stevenson that is being placed by the Napa clubs on Howell Mountain.

The President, Mrs. Hotz, and the Vice President, Mrs. Hunter, are to represent the Sonoma Club at the State Federation, which meets this week at Long Beach.

A committee consisting of Mesdames Emparan, Stofen and Clewe was appointed to make arrangements for receiving the members of the Technical Societies of San Francisco, who are planning to spend a day soon inspecting the historic features in and about Old Sonoma.

The fact of the granting by Andrew Carnegie of $6000 for a Public Library building was a source of keen satisfaction to the Club, who founded and mothered the institution through several strenuous years of hard work. After some discussion, the Club voted to begin plans for a grand celebration on the Fourth of July to raise funds for aiding in either erecting or furnishing the new structure.

The Year Books for 1911-12 are out.

Next Friday will be Social Day in charge of Mrs. Hill and with Mrs. Shaw as hostess.

A Substantial Improvement

The annex to the Castex building on Napa street is now nearly completed. It is a one-story stone and concrete edifice, most of the work being done by P. Basaglia, the stone msaon and cement worker. The new building will be occupied by Mr Castex, who will use it for a first-class and up-to-date cafe.

Local Telephone Directory

The new local telephone directory of the Clear Lake Consolidated Telephone and Telegraph Company is now in the hands of subscribers throughout town and valley. It is issued in pamphlet form and contains twenty-two pages and a cover. The book was printed in this office.

DR. BURKE WILL NOT BE DENIED

Refused Bail by Judge Seawell He Will Now Try Judge Denny

Court Appoints Dr. A. M. Thomson and Two Other Medicos to Examine the Applicant

The second application of Dr W. P. Burke, who was recently convicted in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court for attempted murder, to be admitted to bail came up for hearing last Tuesday before Judge Denny.

The aged physician bases his claim to be given his freedom pending his appeal to the Court of Appeals on the grounds of failing health.

He took the witness stand and stated that he was a sufferer from Bright's disease, a slight heart affection and had lost weight and strength, and spoke of the deaths of members of his family, and the causes of their demise. The witness stated that some years ago he weighed 190 pounds, and then his health began to fail, and he went down to 165 pounds, at which he held this weight stationary for a long tims. He was weighed in the presence of a deputy sheriff Tuesday morning and tipped the beam at 135 pounds. Dr. Burke claimed that there had been corresponding loss of strength with that of weight.

Drs. Menery and Bonar of Santa Rosa also testified in behalf of Dr. Burke. They stated in substance that further confinement would be disastrous to his health That he suffered from Bright's disease, and had trouble with his heart and lungs, was emanciated and weakened, and further confinement would seriously jeopardise his life; he further stated that Dr. Burke was much weakened since his first examination two months ago.

Dr. Wesley Clark was the last of the medicos to testify in behalf of the defendant. His evidence was along the identical lines of the two previous witnesses. He stated that between the two examinations he had made of Dr. Burke, the quantity of albumen in the tests had about doubled.

The prosecution, represented by District Attorney Clarence F. Lea and Assistant District Attorney Hoyle, also introduced medical testimony to combat the evidence of the witnesses for the defense.

Dr. J. W. Jesse of Santa Rosa, stated that when he examined Dr. Burke two months ago he found no new disease conditions, all of those discovered being old conditions. The witness stated that there were no acute conditions besetting Dr. Burke, and there was nothing in their nature which indicated death. He did not believe confinement was extremely detrimental to the health of the prisoner. On cross examination Dr. Jesse answered a number of hypothetical questions which narrated Dr. Burke's condition, and said each was a bad sympton. Dr. Jesse stated he went to the county jail last Saturday to see Dr. Burke, but that he had not made an examination on that day.

County Physician Bogle's testimony was along similar lines to that of Dr. Jesse. He had found Dr. Burke suffering from chronic diseases, but nothing that would indicate a serious retrogression recently which would have been detrimental to the life of the petitioner.

At the conclusion of the testimony Judge Denny, in order to assist him in rendering an impartial decision in this matter of bail, appointed three disinterested physicians to examine Dr. Burke and to report to the court next Tuesday. The physicians are Dr. A. M. Thomson of this city, Dr. J. F. O'Brien of Petaluma and Dr. J. Walter Seawell of Healdsburg.

Reap While Young.

WHEN a boy finishes school, if he is not to follow it up with academic training for some profession, it becomes of utmost importance to him and to his parents to develop an earning capacity. When his interested ones get him a good position they feel that they have done their duty toward giving him a start in life. But right here is where the real vital interest in his welfare should begin.

The young man who has heretofore had the handling of little or no money straight way develops an inclination to become a good fellow, a sport or a prince, and proceeds to throw his first earnings to the winds. He has some indefinite idea of settling down some day, but the present seems to mean only the sowing of that proverbial wild oats or some tamer variety of scattering. His fond parents often have a foolish appreciation for their offspring in this nonchalant role, consoling themselves with that time-tattered phrase that "boys will be boys."

When it comes to practicing conservation it is evident that here is a good place to begin. If the money earned by the youths of our country was not virtually wasted, and they did not begin to live at twenty-eight or thirty with a handicap due to their foolishness the struggle for existence and the high cost of living would appear to be more soluble problems. Reckless living cultivates poor standards and when a young fellow does buckle down to actual figuring on getting ahead or raising a family it seems to require a remarkable lot of self-denial and discipline.

The best years of life, from twenty to thirty, should be devoted to getting something ahead. A fellow need not be a "grouch," but ten dollars a month put into land perhaps never would be missed, and when he had his little parcel paid for he would have something and feel like somebody. Banking money with regularity requires character at the outset, but there are many other avenues possible whereby an obligation is taken on, and enforced saving with possibilities of doubling your money is likely.

The fellow who does not waste the fruits of the best ten years of his youth is way ahead of the game.

The Cynic's Picture of the Suffragette.

HAVE a care, beware! Avoid the suffragettee, her snare, though like a siren she lure you to her lair. For want of something worse, I call her this—the mere man's curse. Marry her not. Tarry! tarry! Tom, Dick and Harry. Her face is on the hatchet plan, her tongue is sharp, her eyes are green.

She would lead thee by the ear unto the voting place, nor seek to cross that awful face. The staring crowd might pity, but dare not aid, for liveth no man now who's not afraid. No Indian on the war-path has it on to these. They yell and run pell mell, nor spare Prime Ministers, so the papers tell.

With tooth and nail she'd see that you obey and pity to you if you would get gay. She would land on you with force and sister Amazons would aid her in her course.

You'd have to give up every cent to aid the cause and tend the house while she made proper laws. The very dog she'd train to keep you treed, and the old cat of course you'd have to feed.

You would have to pay her dentist for the missing teeth torn by the flying squadron from their native heath. You'd have to mend her clothes torn by the crowd while Amazons cried loud, "The ballot or to jail! Come through, we want no bail! The jail we martyrs hail!"

Your voice in training wife might deem compelling to have you join the suffragettes glee club, the war song chorus swelling.

If perchance from your past history she should glean that you'd been rooter or yell leader of your college team, she'd make you root or die for her great cause amidst the Tigers! and the Oh's! and the Ah's! Hobble the thought!

—C. G. MURPHY, 313 Lincoln ave., Alameda.

GIVING the devil his due seems only fair, and so we must admit that there is some call for admiration when we read of local incidents of a corporation's interest in its employees and the pension system's reality. The Southern Pacific has been painted as "a monster of such hideous mein" that Hiram Johnson would boot it out of the State, but it seems to be doing business at the old stand and keeping tab on its good and faithful employees whom it rewards in a very human and Christian-like way. Would that the insurgents looked out as well for their own.

PLATFORM HUMOR

Unexpected Diversions That Were Not on the Bills.

BILL NYE'S TACTFUL QUERY.

It Saved an Embarrassing Situation and Turned a Painful Silence Into a Burst of Laughter—A Simple Notice That Made an Audience Roar.

The funniest humor is the unintentional kind. The best comedy is that which has never been rehearsed or premeditated, but springs to life in close straits when everything of success for the platform performer depends on his holding the spot light of his audience's attention through a crucial strain caused by unexpected diversion.

Some of the involuntary humor of the platform is worth remembering and repeating. For instance:

Once upon a time a lecturer reached his date at 7:30. He had to get his supper, shave and dress between then and the usual scheduled starting time, 8:15. Accordingly he dressed with more haste than he had intended, and two top buttons of his trousers failed to receive proper attention. This showed plainly in the glare of the footlights, and a bit of his dress shirt protruded noticeably. The audience had a hard time being courteous and reconciling the ridiculousness of the speaker's appearance with the serious dignity and beauty of his lecture. Still, all would have been well but for the fact that at the close of the address and while the speaker still sat on the platform in his unconscious dishabille the platform manager rose and announced impressively:

"The next number on this splendid course will be given two weeks from tonight by Dr. Robert McIntyre, who will deliver his celebrated lecture 'Buttoned Up People.'"

The audience shrieked, and to this day, through the tender hearted forbearance of those people, that lecturer does not know why the announcement of his confrere's beautiful word picture lecture created just that kind of enthusiasm.

At one time Dr. Thomas E. Green was submitted to the long introduction agony. He stood it as patiently as possible, and so did the audience, but when the introducer ceased and bowed out the paid speaker of the evening Dr. Green walked forward and said in his most ministerial tone:

"I am going to add a phrase to the litany, making it read as follows: 'From our traducers and our introducers good Lord deliver us!'"

Sometimes a town committee is cantankerous and takes on a degree of choiciness never dreamed of or aspired to by a city committee. At one time Elias Day, a makeup artist, was behind the scenes laying out his wigs, beards, etc., when a committeeman came back to see him. After the usual greetings the committeeman said:

"I hope to goodness you're better'n the last number on our course was!"

"Who was it?" asked Mr. Day.

"Dr. Russell Conwell of Philadelfy."

"Didn't you like him?" asked Day in a daze.

"Rotten!" said the committeeman.

"Who came before that?"

"Leland T. Powers of Boston."

"Well, you liked him, of course."

"Turrible rotten!"

"And what did you have before that?" asked Day, now prepared for anything.

"Schumann-Heink and her company."

"Did you hear her?"

"Ever'body a-kickin'. Said she was poorer'n home talent."

"Well," said Day, the settledness of despair in his tone, "you'll like me!"

But perhaps the best instance of perfect adaptation on the spur of the moment is found in an anecdote Bob Burdette vouched for as having been the experience of his illustrious contemporary, Bill Nye.

Nye and Burbank were being starred that year by Major Pond. They were doing the Canadian provinces and on the night of the special episode were at Victoria, British Columbia. Burbank was doing heavy dramatic work as the best possible foil for Nye's subtle and side racking humor. But in the audience were several men who had that evening tasted too frequently of the flowing bowl. These would occasionally break forth with remarks that were models of untimeliness. Finally, when Burbank was in the midst of his most fascinating and tragic reading and the audience was holding its breath, one whose breath was too strong to be held burst out into a maudlin snatch of song which utterly sidetracked and discouraged the lecturer. The speaker stopped, lost and confused beyond recall.

But just as the silence was beginning to be felt Nye stepped blandly and quickly from behind the scenes, laid his hand on his companion's arm and gazed thoughtfully over the house. Then, in a mild but distinct voice, he asked:

"Is Dr. Leslie E. Keeley in the room?"

Even the fact that it was a near British audience could not hide the consummate wit of the remark, and the evening was saved and made a triumph instead of ignominous defeat for the speakers.—Strickland W. Gillilan in St. Louis Republic.

The Hay Market

"We have to report somewhat of an increase in hay receipts for the past week," say Somers & Co., in their last report on the condition of the hay market for the week ending last Tuesday, and report somewhat of an increase in hay receipts, a total of 2476 tons arriving in comparison with 1750 tons for the week previous. Local trade continues quite dull for the most part, although there is more inquiry for the better grades of hay and the market shows a steadier tone than we have noticed for some little time. In spite of the better feeling, hay cannot be generally purchased in the country and marketed to advantage here.

Naturally at this time of year there is considerable comment regarding the coming crop and as is usual, many are talking short crop and high prices. It is too early to determine in any way the extent of the hay crop for it is not yet made. The weather of late has been most favorable for hay and a continuance of cool weather will be of great advantage, whereas of course a dry north wind would be most undesirable.

A matter of considerable interest will be the carry-over stock of old hay which should soon be published by the San Francisco Hay Association. Although this carry-over stock will probably not be as heavy as last year, yet there undoubtedly was a large quantity of hay on storage in the country on May 1st.

New Grand Jury Expert

Walter Whittaker, who has been occupying a position with the Union Trust-Savings and the Santa Rosa National Banks recently, was appointed expert of the grand jury Friday afternoon.

Mr. Whittaker was not known to have been an applicant, while others were seeking the position. His appointment comes as somewhat of a surprise, therefore.

The new appointee succeeds Benjamin F. Ballard, and is one of the best known accountants and clerical men of the City of Roses. He will enter upon his duties at once.

More Enterprise

The Aguillon-Heggie property on First-street West and facing the Plaza, and taking in about two-thirds of the block, has been recently improved with a stone curbing and cement sidewalk its entire length of 400 feet. Several new buildings, suitable for store purposes, are now in course of completion on the property which when finished will put First-street West on the map as one of the business streets of the town, which is showing a wonderful growth since the introduction of electric lights, motive power and a local telephone service into its midst. To these three things and the new City Hall, which stands as a monument to the civic pride of our people, is due in a great measure the rapid strides Sonoma is taking toward becoming one of the leading municipalities of the interior of the State.

Ladies' Aid Society

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Congregational Church met in monthly session at home of Mrs. McElroy on Broadway, Tuesday afternoon. Forty-five members were present and three new names were added to the membership, which now numbers sixty.

Alleged Seducer Indicted by the Grand Jury

The Grand Jury of Sonoma county has returned an indictment aganist Frank Duval, charging him with a heinous offense. Two girls are his accusers and they reside in the northern part of the county. It did not take the Grand Jury long after hearing the girls sad story to formally charge the alleged guilty man with the crime.

Judge Denny received the report of the Grand Jury and fixed the bail of defendant at $10,000. Duval is already in custody in the county jail and his next appearance will be in Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court to answer to the charge.

MEASURES ALTITUDES.

The Use of the Barograph on Aeroplanes and Balloons.

What the compass is to the mariner the barograph is to the aviator. The barograph is an instrument for measuring altitudes. The pressure of the air as it increases or decreases causes a delicate needle to trace a wavy line upon a cylinder which revolves by clockwork. This line indicates not only the exact height that is reached by the aviator, but also the speed at which he is traveling.

The barograph is kept in a weather proof box with a glass front, which is attached to a bar of the aeroplane or to a rope on the balloon. It is officially sealed before the aviator embarks, so there is no possibility of tampering with it, and the seal is taken off in the presence of witnesses at the end of the flight. In this way it is possible to establish absolutely and graphically the altitude which an aviator attains in his aeroplane or balloon. It is necessary for the aviator to watch the barograph constantly, as it indicates a change in the elevation almost to the foot. The sky pilot has to keep his eye on the indicator much as the man at the wheel of the seagoing ship watches his compass. Should the aeroplane or the balloon rise or fall ten or twenty feet the aviator would not be conscious of it unless he looked at the wavering needle tracing its permanent record on a chart before him. This tells him immediately of any changes in the nature of the air currents and gives him timely warning of aerial dangers.

These instruments are so delicate and so accurate, it is said, that a man might hang one of them about his neck in its glass case or carry it in his hand and climb a flight of stairs, the height of his ascent being graphically indicated by the inked needle on the machine.—New York Press.

A CAREFUL MAN.

His Indecision In the Matter of Employing a Doctor.

The parsimony of the old New Englander of the type now almost vanished was nobly exemplified in Mr. Benny Huntingdon, who lived with his maiden sister in a little town in western Massachusetts. Neiher had ever spent a penny unnecessarily and when in his old age Mr. Benny became crippled with "the rheumatiz" and had, as well, strange flutterings of the heart, which were unrelieved by the best recommended "yarb teas," they were greatly shocked at the suggestions and warnings of their friends and neighbors that they ought to send for a doctor. Mr. Benny refused, declared his scorn of the entire medical profession and continued to save his pennies.

But the pain grew worse. Mr. Benny was confined to his bed in great agony and overheard some of the neighbors telling his sister that he was going to die. Then he sent for an old schoolmate, a man as "careful" as himself.

"Josiah," he asked, in a low, confidential tone, "have you ever had a doctor?"

Josiah shook his head. "Dunno as I have," he answered.

Mr. Benny reached out and laid a trembling hand upon his old friend's arm. "Josiah," he asked again, "did you ever hear how much one o' them doctors charges for a visit?"

Josiah looked at his suffering friend with pitying sympathy. "Well," he said, breaking it as gently as he could—"well, I have heard, Benny, that they charge as much as $2 a visit!"

"Two dollars!" Mr. Benny repeated. "Two dollars!" Then he sank back on his pillow and sighed in a voice of strangely mingled relief, regret and resignation. "Well, I dunno but I'd rather spend $5 than die!"—Youth's Companion.

The Licorice Plant.

The licorice plant resembles a rose with a single green stem, reaches a height of about three feet and bears a small purple star shaped flower. The first year's root growth resembles a loosely twisted string of tow and may run to twenty feet in length. The second year it assumes a woody substance when dry, and the third year it acquires its commercial value. The time for digging the root is the winter, when it is dried and crushed under heavy stones drawn round on it by mules, much as olives are crushed to extract their oil.

Queer Kaffir Custom.

Kaffir women will not pronounce their husband's names or even use words which contain the emphatic syllable of those names. One old woman, being taught to say the Lord's prayer, changed the word from "come" in "Thy kingdom come" to something that made nonsense, and it proved that the proper "come" word was the main syllable of her husband's name.

Proving His Contention.

"Jones is an optimist, even in the most discouraging circumstances, isn't he?"

"Why, no. His mother-in-law is slightly indisposed, and he thinks there's no hope for her recovery."

"Well, what did I tell you?"—Cleveland Leader.

Chess In Ancient Ceylon.

In ancient Ceylon the game of chess was played with local variations peculiar enough to note. The king may not castle, but he is permitted to jump like a knight till checked. The pawns are exchangeable on the last row for the pieces on whose row they stand.

Though the world may owe every man a living, only the persistent collector gets it.
